

As we are discovering that institutions in the state use aborted baby parts for experimentation, this absolutely worst report has come to light and answers to some questions may be emerging.

"Abortionist Laurent C. Delli-Bovi, who is the founder and Medical Director at Women's Health Services in Brookline where abortions are done up to 23 weeks, co-authored a 2011 paper that studied the brains of 22 aborted babies, aged 14-22 weeks, to explore why those with Down syndrome experience mental retardation and early onset of Alzheimer's Disease. The study was funded with public money from the National Institutes of Health.

Of the 22 baby brains used for experimentation, 11 were harvested from five boys and six girls with Down syndrome, while the other 11 brains were harvested from five boys and six girls without the genetic disorder. The latter were used as control subjects during the experimentation process.

All 22 aborted babies' brains were used for experimentation within 2-4 hours after their deaths. This means that the brains were rushed to researchers who were standing by and had likely been notified that the brains were going to be available".

<http://www.lifenews.com/2015/09/04/abortionist-did-research-with-brains-of-babies-aborted-because-they-had-down-syndrome/>

Women's Health Services is known for doing late term abortions. MCFL informed state officials that five facilities, including WHS, advertise on their web sites that they do abortions up to 23 weeks in violation of state law and Department of Public Health regulations which require abortions after 18 weeks to be done in hospitals, The Executive Office of Health and Human Services, responding for the MassHealth agency, stated in May 2014 that they had found "no evidence these [abortion] providers have submitted improper claims or received improper payments from MassHealth for abortion services."

That seemed to indicate that they were filing the later babies as being only 18 weeks. Since abortions get more expensive with age, that would cost them money. Of course, selling the babies would overcome that shortfall.

Planned Parenthood advertises up to only 18 weeks and 6 days, thus complying with the regs. Since those earlier babies are not as useful for experimenting, perhaps that is why PPLM hasn't been found to sell aborted babies.

Don't you feel you need to wash out your eyes and ears with soap? Anne

PS Abortionist glorifying her work. She came to Massachusetts especially to be trained to kill babies:<http://liveactionnews.org/female-abortionist-defends-trade-abortion-fair-children/>